Significance of Studying Betawi in Creolistics

- Previous frameworks focus heavily on European-lexified creoles
- Betawi has been largely understudied in the field of creolistics
- Betawi is a threatened language at risk of further endangerment with the sinking of Jakarta
 - Environmental damages as a result of colonization
 - Betawi embodies the connection between colonialism to ongoing climate change crisis and language endangerment.

Research Question

Do different labels for Betawi reflect different language attitudes?
If so, which labels are used by who?

Framework: Léglise & Migge 2006

- « Names for languages (or people) are never neutral » (1)
- Local linguistic market (Bourdieu 1982) (3)?
- Takitaki: Out-group, in-group designation (19)

Who names a language what, and what does that tell us about the language attitudes of that group relative to the language?

Framework: Knörr 2018

- Phonetic reference to creole identity (17)
- Indigenization (15)
- Identity creation (15)

Can we also extend this to phonetic reference of a creole's proximity to its lexifier?

- e.g., Kristang, Papiamentu, HC, Kriolu, vs. Jakarta Malay, Betawi Malay

Comparing Indonesian and Betawi: « Just » a dialect?

Betawi

Ketike itu datenglah Yesus dari Nazaret di tanah Galilea, dan Die dipaptis di sungai Yordan ame Yohanes. Ketike Die keluar dari aer, Die ngeliat langit robek dan Roh kayak burung merpati turun ke atas-Nye. Lalu kedengeran suare dari sorga: « Elo Anak Aye yang Aye kasihi, kepada Elo Aye berkenan »

(https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Betawi_language)

Indonesian

Pada masa itu datanglah Yesus dari Nazaret di tanah Galilea, lalu Yahya membaptiskan Dia di dalam Sungai Yarden. Maka ketika Ia naik keluar dari air itu, dilihat-Nya langit terbelah, serta Roh Allah turun ke atas-Nya seperti seekor burung merpati. Lalu kedengaranlah suatu suara dari langit, mengatakan, Engkau inilah Anak-Ku yang Kukasihi, kepada-Mu juga Aku berkenan!

First, I do mean no offense to Betawi speakers. Because portrayal of Betawi language in Indonesian media as a language which usually used in comedic shows or in very informal situation, for me it is a bit strange seeing a very formal or sacred text like above written with it.

Nyok bareng-bareng kite nulis di Wikipédi basa Betawi Betawi itu mostly dialek. Kalo dibanding dengan bahasa daerah lain (minang, sunda, jawa, dsb) nyaris ga ada bedanya sama bahasa Indonesia.

Easy job lah untuk kontributor wikipedia

Haji Abdul Chaer Meluruskan Persepsi Keliru terhadap Budaya Betawi

By ditwdb / October 30, 2019

Abdul Chaer adalah seorang linguis yang memberikan perhatian pada bahasa dan budaya Betawi. Ia menulis empat kamus dan 41 buku yang banyak mengupas bahasa dan budaya Betawi, antara lain, Kamus Dialek Jakarta dan Folklor Betawi. Atas kepeduliannya tersebut, pensiunan lektor kepala mata kuliah lingustik pada Universitas Negeri Jakarta ini menerima penghargaan Anugerah Kebudayaan kategori Pelestari dari Kementerian Pendidikan dan Kebudayaan, 2019.

(<https://kebudayaan.kemdikbud.go.id/ditwdb/haji-abdul-chaer-meluruskan-persepsi-keliru-terhadap-budaya-betawi/>)

« Banyak film, lenong di teve, dan penampilan stand up komedi yang menyajikan humor Betawi dengan cara mengejek, merendahkan sesama dan menggambarkan orang Betawi yang bodoh. » (« Portray Betawi people as stupid »)

Translating this to language attitudes?

- Not able to definitively determine whether specific labels are associated with « positive » or « negative » attitudes without comprehensive input from heritage speakers (coming in 2025)
- Impressionistically, in-group terms are not used in formal contexts or by authors of non-Betawi descent
 - In-group/out-group marker?
 - Formality
 - Condescension

Discussion and Extensions

- Naming practices for creoles vs. non-standardized varieties and dialects
 - Creole exceptionalism (DeGraff 2003) -> Does labelling a language as « creole » or non-creole impact how the naming practices take shape?
- Variation and creolistics
 - How do naming practices of non-standardized varieties and of creole languages impact the way we recognize and study variation within creolistics?
- Speaker agency: Adopting the use of speaker terminology in more contexts
